The Whisky War among the Distillers.

The extensive frauds practiced upon the Government by whisky distillers, all over the country, has kept the Internal Revenue Department pretty busily engaged for months ferreting out and prosecuting offenders. The last development of the controversy shows that a very interesting fight has been inaugurated, in which Philadelphia, New York, and Baltimore are contestants. A very cunning device to defraud the Government is adopted by heavy distillers, who take large quantities of spirits out of bond in New York, and ship it to Philadelphia to be re-bottled or rectified, and the same practice is pursued to a very great extent by distillers in Philadelphia, who ship to New York, Boston, or Baltimore. The interesting part of these transactions is that very much of the whisky so shipped goes astray, and when the bond-man comes to be looked after he is found to be gone, or not worth the value of the property for which he became security. A. B. Johnson, the chief clerk of the Internal Revenue Bureau, has been in Philadelphia for several days with a view to ferret out the parties connected with these frauds, and it is possible bringing them to punishment; and Mr. Harland, the Deputy Commissioner, is in New York for the same purpose. The Philadelphia distillers, those who make spirits from grain, have formed a league, for the mutual protection of such as are connected with it, of which Gen. William McCandless, State Senator from the First District, is the President, with William Eikin as Treasurer, and Frank Watson as Secretary. At the head of the Executive Committee, as its chairman, is a Mr. Geo. Mountjoy, who was made famous on account of the delinquency with which he manipulated his distillery at Rahway, New Jersey, in connection with the Assistant Assessor, who escaped the strictest clutch of the law through a legal technicality. The counsel for this organization are Lewis C. Cassidy and Robert E. Randall, and its present object is to have all whisky arriving in Philadelphia from New York seized and confiscated.

The New York distillers and dealers have also banded together for their own protection against what they style the Philadelphia raid, and they have employed as counsel Moses A. Dropsie and A. B. Stouffer, ex-Collector of the First District. The fight promises to be a most interesting one, and it is understood that the legal representatives of the Kolokotronis are in communication with the Government at Washington, from which they have the promise of the aid of the officers of the Bureau, in common with the Philadelphia interest.

The New Yorkers declare that they will cause all whisky arriving in that city from Philadelphia to be seized, and, on the principle that when rogues fall out honest men are likely to get what is due them, it is probable the government will succeed in obtaining something like fair play.

Improvements.

We lately had a word to say about beautifying grounds by planting shrubs and flowering plants, and we judge the season is working.

The inside of the house may, and should be made as attractive as possible, due regard being had to the judicious expenditure. A cheerful sitting room, a well furnished parlor with books, paintings, engravings, &c., and much to the enjoyment of the house. To boys growing up to manhood, home should be the place whence most of their enjoyment should proceed.

Not only should home be made pleasant and attractive, but places of business should be looked after in this respect. Who would not go a block or two further in order to make a purchase in a neat, clean well kept meat market, or grocery, or a well arranged and well fitted up dry goods store? We have some places of business in our city that will compare favorably with those of any location, and we are sorry to add, some that would reflect discredit upon the youngest old town of two years ago. Our citizens can plead no excuse for negligence in such matters, for we have good artists here in many branches as we could ask for. Take for instance the department of painting and frescoing, and we venture to say, that Messrs. Talamo & Doherty will make as great an improvement in the exterior and interior appearance of a store or dwelling by the skillful use of their brushes as any one could wish.

A painter of ordinary merit once visited a celebrated artist, and upon leaving him at the easel asked what he mixed his paints with to produce such beautiful colors, and received the simple answer, "brains." We don't know how Mr. Talamo's stock in the region between the oil fronts and the oil pits of the beautiful, tasteful and exceedingly appropriate fresco painting that he has done in the Second National Bank Rooms would seem to have drawn largely upon somebody's brains. We will not try to describe the work, for it is out of our line; we only know it pleases us, and that the more we study on it, the better we are satisfied. We ask every man who steps into the Second National to-day, to verify our words by passing a criticism on the frescoing done there by Arthur Talamo.

Emigrants.

The Director of the Bureau of Statistics has received a return of foreign emigrants at New York for the quarter ending March 31, 1867, from which it appears that during that period the total number of emigrants was 27,619, of whom 8,088 arrived in January, 6,290 in February, and 13,231 in March. The entire number was brought to this country in 185 vessels, being an average of 151 to each vessel. Of this number there arrived from Great Britain, 5,900 males and 4,886 females; Germany, 8,042 males and 8,444 females; Switzerland, 548 males and 180 females; Russia, 437 males and 111 females; France, 453 males and 105 females; Italy, 109 males and 16 females; Holland, 93 males and 78 females; the remainder being from other countries. The occupation of the largest number was ordinary labor, the next farmer, and the next mechanic, then merchant, and then miner. Of laborers there were 7,141; farmers, 3,569; mechanics, 3,357; merchants, 1,703; and miners, 1,108. Ninety reported themselves as artists and 30 as clergymen. Of the females 527 were servants; the remainder had no particular occupation. Among them were 504 husbands, 1 husband, 1 Turk, 1 African, 3 Japanese, and 1 Greek. Of the entire number 37 died at sea.

The largest number of passengers brought by any one vessel was 637, by the steamer City of Boston, from Liverpool. The next largest was 429, in the steamer William Penn, from London, and the smallest number was in a small vessel aptly named the J. B. Small, which arrived on the 7th of February from Sial, bringing one female passenger.

SPRINGS HOUSE, NEW YORK.—In our columns this morning will be found the announcement that Mr. Geo. C. Chase has taken the proprietorship of this hotel. Those who are familiar with the history of the oil regions will not need any assertion on our part that he "knows how to keep a hotel." One of the greatest hotel enterprises of this region was inaugurated and successfully carried on by him. At a cost of $80,000, for building and furniture he erected and furnished the famous "Chase House," of Picheo; and under his administration its fame was wide spread. The Cherry Run Hotel, at Kouseville, was also under his superintendence. The Stevens House, now taken in hand by our friend has been re-modelled, newly furnished, and fixed up in complete and inviting order. It is needless to add that persons from this vicinity who have occasion to visit New York will take up their abode with Geo. C. Chase, Stevens House, Nos. 21, 23, 25 and 27 Broadway.

VICK'S ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE OF FLOWERS AND VEGETABLE SEEDS AND GUIDE TO THE FLOWER GARDEN FOR 1867.—This book contains accurate descriptions of the leading floral treasures of the world, with full directions for sowing seed, transplanting and after culture. It contains 88 pages and is finely illustrated with 100 engravings and a beautiful colored plate, representing five of the leading hardy varieties of flowers. It also has a full list of vegetable seeds with directions for planting. To get one of these catalogues, send to James Vick, Rochester, N. Y., and enclose fifteen cents.

THE COMMISSIONER OF THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE has received information of the discovery of gold in the bluffs bordering on the Missouri river, in Yankton county, Dakota. It is reported that parties familiar with gold countries say that the strata in which the gold is found is similar in every respect to that of other mining regions. Further investigations will be made for the purpose of ascertaining whether the precious metal exists in quantities sufficient to pay for working it.

NEW STRIKES.—About two weeks since there were two well struck on the Bonn Farm near Tyndel's, both of which are pumping fifty barrels per day of 45 gravity oil. These wells are struck at 680 feet, and it is an encouraging feature to oil operations on this farm that every well yet put down there has been successful. Some new developments are to be commenced in a few days. The oil from these wells is brought in wagons to Titusville, costing fifty cents per barrel for transportation.

UNION BASE BALL CLUB.—An adjourned meeting will be held at the Club room, Diamond street (adjoining Crosby's Billiard Room) this (Tuesday) evening, at 8 o'clock. A full and punctual attendance is requested. The Committee on Constitution and By-Laws make their report, and other business of importance will be transacted. GEORGE H. COBURN, Sec'y.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—Rev. William Howell Taylor, being absent, attending the General Assembly at Rochester, his place will be supplied next Sunday by Rev. John Wickes, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Attica, New York.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY having filed in the Department of the Interior the required affidavit, showing the completion of another section of its road, commencing at the 30th and ending at the 32nd mile-post west from the initial point at Omaha, the acting Secretary has instructed the government commissioners to proceed to Omaha for the purpose of examining and reporting upon the same, as required by law.

THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

Address of the National Union Committee. New York, May 16, 1867.

To the Republicans of the Union:

The National Union Committee appeals to the Republicans of the country for their assistance and co-operation in this auspicious crisis of our country.

We deem it of the highest importance that the Republicans of every State should immediately reorganize for the remaining elections of 1867, preparatory to the coming Presidential contest. Especially should this organization be immediately effected in those States which have never before recognized as the only just basis of government the equal and inalienable rights of man. Not a day should be lost in forming and strengthening within those States a public sentiment in consonance with the principles which underlie the great political organization to which we belong.

To this end we desire to prosecute a systematic and thorough canvass of the Southern States, by the most efficient speakers of both races. We would call, in every locality where it is possible, meetings for discussion, where those who are with us in principle may learn to act with unity and energy. These measures are required to bring out the vote of the large body of Republican Unionists who now render the Southern States a battle-field of principles. It is the pressing need of the hour that bold, judicious and able men, thoroughly imbued with our creed, should explain our principles, establish our faithfulness to them, and prove that national greatness and human freedom depend upon the permanent triumph of our cause.

Beyond this it is most essential that we should now establish in these States, Free Thought, Free Speech and a Free Press. Every part of this country must be open to the discussion of principles and measures. This must be sustained as a cardinal point in our creed, at all and every stage. Efforts to intimidate the humble and ignorant voter on the part of the Southern planters, must be met with the spirit of freedom, and the determination which a just cause sanctions.

In times past the Republican party has struggled against the unjust reproach of being sectional in its aims and interests. Though its purpose and its means of effecting them were such as the fathers of the Republic approved. It was accused of being governed by selfish motives, and of dividing and agitating the North, to the expense of the South. Its adversaries having the power to silence and to crush all opposition, denied all discussion, and outlawed even freedom of thought in fifteen States of the Union. It is now necessary to inaugurate a new era, and to our party and to ourselves, to embrace the first opportunity of truly representing to those States how consistently we have contended for the interests, welfare and freedom of the whole Union.

The overthrow of slavery and the rebellion, and the enfranchisement of the freedmen, rendering this overthrow secure and final, has happily become an imperative duty which we owe to our party and to ourselves, to embrace the first opportunity of truly representing to those States how consistently we have contended for the interests, welfare and freedom of the whole Union.

For the first time in many years the enthusiastic citizens of our land, and our countrymen, are there taking part in the popular gatherings, and in many of the Southern States, we have reason to believe that they form a decided majority. They are, however, without organization, and without the cohesion and union necessary to success. Three-fourths of its members have never voted, and have no political knowledge of the means whereby the popular will is expressed. With many of them the ballot is fixed of rendering implicit obedience to able and daring politicians, who are implicitly hostile to our principles, and determined on the prostration of our cause.

Immediate action is therefore imperative. We cannot delay without sacrificing all for which we have been sacrificed in the past. Confident in our strength in the North, and West, and Pacific States, we must not forget the loyal and true men of the South.

Republicans' appeal is to you, to carry on and sustain the work which a few loyal and true men have so nobly begun. We cannot ask you, in addition to giving their time and talents for months to this labor, to defray their own necessary expenses. We cannot print and distribute documents of the character required without doing so at a great cost. We cannot ask you to give us a great day to perform towards the great party which holds the claims of humanity and freedom above all price. The patronage of the Government, brought into power by the overthrow of slavery, and the overthrow of the old party, will not aid us in this good work.

We must therefore appeal directly and personally to you. If you are rich give generously. If poor send to us whatever you can afford. Be generous purposes and the noble aim, namely the humblest efforts. At all events act promptly, and let us feel that the sympathy of the Republican party is with us in our purpose of making the great and the best of the nation, public principles, where distinctions of race and color are unknown, and where Liberty, Virtue and Intelligence form the enduring basis of our greatness and prosperity.

Our immediate appeal is to Gov. Marcus L. Ward, Chairman and Treasurer, Newark, N. J.

MARCUS L. WARD, N. J. FARMER & FURNITURE, PA. WILLIAM CLARK, N. J. HORACE GOSWELL, N. Y. H. J. SPARKS, N. Y. N. B. SARGENT, DE. H. W. HOFFMAN, MD.

EXCURSION TO THE HOLY LAND.—Eastern papers announce the above excursion. Lieutenant General Sherman and daughter accompany the party, which is composed of many prominent citizens of New York and neighboring cities. The Government has issued a circular letter to the ministers and consuls of the United States in the various countries to be visited, instructing them to show every attention to General Sherman and the party on board of the Quaker City. The commandant of the New York navy yard has received orders to place the necessary guns and flags on the ship, that she may acknowledge in a proper manner, salutes in foreign ports. This is the only instance where a private ship visits Europe under such auspices; these unusual honors, of course, being due to the presence of General Sherman on board.

Restored American Tour.

Madame Adelaide Ristori, the modern Queen of Tragedy, departed for Europe on the 18th inst. As she made her first appearance in New York city on the 20th of September last, this will make her stay here just eight months. During that period she has appeared in twenty-eight different American cities, from Montreal to New Orleans, in one hundred and fifty-eight performances. Her repertoire consisted of two twelve characters, Marie Stuart and Queen Elizabeth, being the greatest favorites with herself and the public. The former she represented forty-one times and the latter fifty-two times.

The gross receipts of the tour amount to about four hundred and fifty thousand dollars, on which the Government tax is nine thousand dollars. Madame Ristori's share is two hundred and seventy thousand dollars, and after deducting from this all her personal expenses, as well as those of her company, she will have in the way of net profit, about two hundred thousand dollars. It would be interesting to know the number of merchants who, by a strict attention to business, have been able to accumulate in the course of a lifetime as large a fortune as Ristori has gathered together in less than a single year.

The operatives of the secret-service of the Treasury a few days ago captured in New Jersey a number of lithograph plates with the impression of $5 notes of the People's National Bank of Jackson, Michigan; also plates with the impression of $1 United States legal tender, and fifty and twenty-five cent fractional currency notes. The person who was engaged in printing the counterfeit notes was arrested, and is held for trial before the United States District Court.

The State the Parent of all the People.

One of the leading points made by Attorney General Stanbery, in his argument against the proposed injunction to prevent the execution of the military reconstruction law, is especially noticeable. It is, that when a State brings a suit to defend or enforce the political rights of its citizens, it must be sure to represent all its citizens. There was great significance in the following reply to the counsel for the provisional government:

How do we know that the State of Georgia, in the person of all the citizens of Georgia? Where a corporation or an individual not only represents himself, but seeks to represent others, he must show the court very clearly that what he asks is for the benefit of those others. Why, what authority do my learned friends say that they appear for the citizens of Georgia or Mississippi, and to protect their rights? Do they know how they stand affected with regard to those laws?

Recollect, not a portion of the citizens; that will not do. The entire people, like the people of a family. He must take care of all his children, not one only. How do we know that all the citizens of Georgia admit that they are represented here, or that there is any benefit sought by this bill that will be of benefit to them? The gentlemen are very clearly of the opinion that it is not a benefit to a portion of them certainly. I imagine it would be a great benefit to many of them—whether a majority or not I do not undertake to say. But when a State in its person brings power comes to represent its citizens as citizens, it must represent them all, and cannot represent one set at the expense of another.

Under the old slave code the blacks were not regarded as citizens, or a portion of the people of a State, but were held as chattels, and submitted to the care of those who held and owned them. The case is now very different, and Southern Courts have a lesson set them by the Attorney General which they should diligently set about to learn.
